"I came under the care of Children's Aid at fourteen. Growing up in foster homes, I learned early that part of healing would be about giving back. After graduating from art college, and earning a degree from university, I looked for a way to contribute to others. Working with a partner, we applied to the Children's Aid Foundation, wrote a business plan and won funding for a DJ company that would employ young men like ourselves."

"I Am Your Children's Aid."

Family and Children's Services of the Waterloo Region is your children's aid.
